ALDERMAN WARD 1

Platform

Buddy wants to firmly apply his energy and strength of character to rebuilding his community and neighborhood. He wants to bring fresh ideas to the Aldermen leadership team and breath new life into Pass Christian. As a principled, local professional, Buddy has been undeterred in his efforts to reconstruct our city after Katrina. Now he wants to contribute that same reliability and competence at a leadership level and continue the building process.

Buddy will energetically represent the particular interests of his neighbors in Ward 1 while at the same time working to make our city an integral whole.

Buddy says we are all in the same boat and we need to work together to make Pass Christian the most attractive, prosperous and livable city on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

A human being is part of a whole, called by us the Universe, a part limited in time and space. He experiences himself, his thoughts and feelings, as something separated from the rest--a kind of optical delusion of his consciousness. This delusion is a kind of prison for us, restricting us to our personal desires and to affection for a few persons nearest us. Our task must be to free ourselves from this prison by widening our circles of compassion to embrace all living creatures and the whole of nature in its beauty.

HARBOR SHOPS Pass Christian, Mississippi

The first PassWorks Group project is Harbor Shops, a project to be located at 221 East Scenic Drive, the Old Town Library property. Hurricane Katrina destroyed the building, and it remains undeveloped. The concept is a cluster of small retail shops with affordable rents to accelerate business growth in the downtown district of Pass Christian. The long (166') and narrow (34') property is owned by the Pass Christian Historic Society, a 501(c)3 non-profit corporation.

The working concept involves an attractive entry in front of six recycled shipping containers in a charming courtyard environment, a prime example of adaptive reuse. These small retail businesses will attract visitors as well as serve residents. The re-design of each container will be inviting, airy and light. (Note the shipping containers are insulated 8x43-foot containers, which we are acquiring from Chiquita as they are phasing out these in favor of the more standard 8X40-feet.)

Robin Riley makes plans for buildings and towns

Robin Riley has been helping his clients make places special as an architect and urban designer in the United States from 1973 to 1986 and in New Zealand from 1986 to 2004. He now has offices in Pass Christian, Mississippi.

In New Orleans, Robin Riley was the architect and urban designer for Louis Armstrong Park , a 31 acre downtown entertainment centre developed by the City of New Orleans under two mayors. Mr Riley also prepared the original plans and helped administer the 1984 Louisiana World Exposition — where he was the architect for the Egyptian Exhibit and the Historic New Orleans Collection City of New Orleans Exhibit.

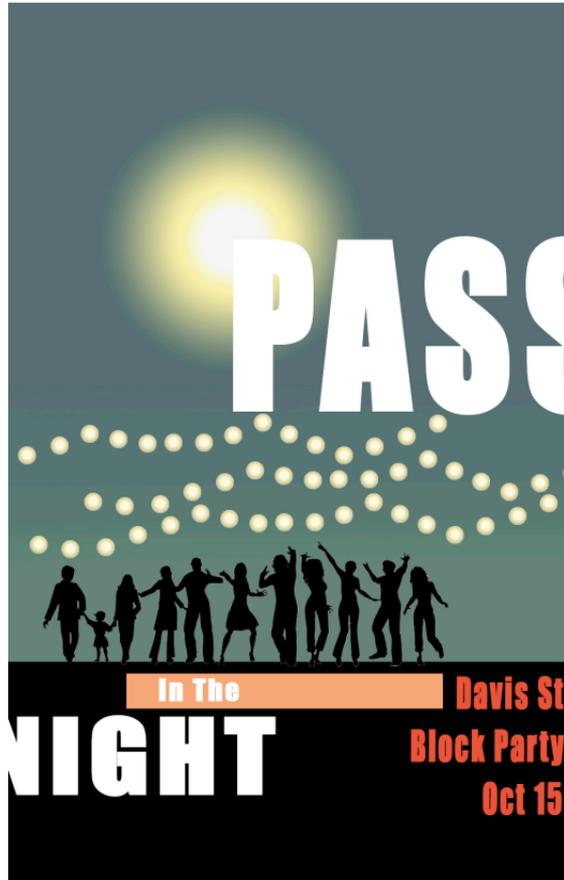

In New Zealand, Robin Riley's work includes the production of concept plans for various town centers and a number of neighborhoods in the North Island of New Zealand. Mr Riley prepared the concept plan for Gulf Harbour and had lead responsibility for the architecture and urban design of the Gulf Harbour Marine Village and the residential development concepts associated with Gulf Harbour's golf course.

In the United States, Robin Riley developed concepts for the Wal-Mart Village, the Veterans Administration Hospital site (Centennial Plaza) in Gulfport and the downtown of Pass Christian.

Robin Riley Associates' work has been published in Progressive Architecture, the Journal of the American Institute of Architects, "A Guide to New Orleans Architecture", Architecture New Zealand , "Between Coasts From Kaipara to Kawau" and the AARP Bulletin.

We sell sliding doors and hallway systems for the storage industry

Possibly the biggest innovation in the storage industry in the last 50 years.

Peter Coleman as the founder of Dependable Storage Services, has been designing, building and operating facilities along the Gulf Coast, just outside of New Orleans, for more than a decade. Over the years, he has purchased thousands of roll-up doors from manufacturers, but grew increasingly more frustrated with their design.

Coleman knew the springs, which require regular maintenance to operate smoothly, were the weak link in the roll-up door design, so he urged manufacturers to engineer them differently—without springs. "After a while, I gave up asking manufacturers and decided to take it upon myself to create a solution and offer a better choice."

Coleman sat down with pen and paper and began drawing the sliding door. He gave his sketches to his Dependable Storage Services crew, who built a prototype. "They built it, we tweaked it, made it simpler and lighter," he says. To make a long story short, Peter recently installed 506 new Coleman SideSlider doors in his Gulfport facility. They are a huge success.

The Coleman SideSlider can be inexpensively retrofitted into existing buildings and are compliant with ADA requirements. "This is a quiet, smooth sliding door with only two moving parts that never wear out," Coleman says.

"The business of self-storage is highly competitive," he adds. "If someone builds a facility right next door that's better than mine, I could be out of business in six months. These new doors allow facilities to remain competitive and on the cutting edge."

The Coleman SideSlider doors are enormously attractive to clients who, along with Peter, are "Slide'n & Glide'n" and no longer "Bendin' & Pullin'"

Coleman Metals

We're the go-to people for building projects involving metal components and requiring innovation, imagination and resourcefulness. We say this because of our twelve year history of constructing highly successful multi-story commercial buildings in Louisiana and Mississippi. Our bottom line for costs is: BOTTOM.

We have a new state of the art factory in New Orleans with a complete inventory of metal parts making machinery. And our skilled staff is familiar with a wide range of tasks in the building industry. We can design and fabricate and install just about anything you can dream up. Call us. Test us.
